Jordy
Love Martinez

My name is Cohen, I am a multi-sport athlete. I have a passion for football and dream to one day make it to the NFL. My dad and I would throw the ball ever since I was little and he was thrilled with how quickly I picked it up. I started in rec flag football playing with the older kids, moved to tackle football and got invited to try out for a competitive flag football team and haven't turned back. I challenge myself to be the best teammate and player, opening myself up to be more coachable and playing my hardest to leave it all out on the field.

Jordy Love
Martinez

Hello a little a bit about Jordy Love Martinez also known as JLOVE, J2 ,The Jet, the beast and many other nicknames however these are just his favorites. He's 7 yrs old born in San Antonio TX. At just 3 yrs old he started his way through sports including soccer basketball football & baseball. After giving them a try he landed his love on baseball with a little of football. He first picked up a baseball watching his older brother play and threw himself in his teams practices. We knew he was made for the game instantly. He was often always the smaller one with every team he got a chance to play with and almost always underestimated because of his size but like many great athletes he didn't let it stop him. He's overcame so much and has received admiration and recognition for his drive, passion, continued hard work & dedication. He's received many opportunities to play with great organizations where he's received many of his accomplishments a few being two 1st place Super NIT tournaments, 1st place AYF football championship, 3rd runner up in the Shetland World Series . He has over 70 championship & finalist rings & the biggest accomplishment for him is being the first 6 yr old to attend the PG All American Games for 10U where he received two game balls for starting a hitting rally to keep his team in the game. Jordy has encountered some setbacks but has never let it stop him one being a broken arm where he still pushed himself to play. He's just a kid who loves the game endlessly. He works everyday to perfect his game he strives to be the best with a humble mindset. His iq for the game is impeccable at just 7 and continues to grow each day. His dream & goal is to play in the MLB and be watched on TV like his favorite players PRIMETIME, Javi Báez, Mookie Bets, & Francisco Lindor. Hopefully one day you will see him there. Remember the name JLOVE(J2)

My dreams are to play for my dream college Alabama. I just wanna go bro I really don't care where I go. I just wanna go pro. And make it big and play in the NFL. For no other team such as the Dallas Cowboys. Making it to the NFL has been my dread for a long time now. So I put in that work during school to have the grades to go big. So I can play on Friday night light. Another step to the next big thing in my life.

My name is Jordan Anderson . I am 13 years old. I believe I am a champion. Hard work and discipline is all I follow as both these are important components in order to become a champion. I am always ready for a match day battle. It helps me to learn a lot. Opponents always try to tear us down and how we defeat them is a great task . It's always nice to emerge out of all odds. All we can do is work hard and leave the rest.
