Sara Haber has been modeling for me for 4 years. She is my Muse of Fashion. She has made all of my genres of clothing come to life. She also helped me to get them sold in my local Consignment shop. In total she modeled all 32 collections from me. I was so glad when she hit me up on Model Mayhem while I was planning a Model Casting to find Models to represent my brand very well. She passed the test. So I selected her along with other Models. So we really have a tight working relationship. Also her Photographer takes excellent pictures to make my brand come to life.

Dancing Through Dreams: My Journey as a Professional Dancer

Ever since I was a child, my dream was to dance on some of the world's biggest stages, and I have been fortunate to turn that dream into reality. My journey began when I earned a role as a dancer in a Broadway musical in Paris—a life-changing opportunity that allowed me to showcase my passion for performing and grow as an artist.

After my time in Paris, I took my skills to the seas, working as a professional dancer aboard luxurious cruise ships. Traveling the world while doing what I love was a magical experience, as it gave me the chance to perform for diverse audiences and immerse myself in different cultures. Following this, I continued my career by performing at private events, bringing joy and entertainment to exclusive audiences.

Throughout my career, I have faced challenges—long hours of training, fierce competition, and the constant push to evolve as a performer—but every step has been worth it. My achievements remind me that hard work and determination can turn dreams into reality.

At this stage of my career, I am seeking new opportunities as a dancer. I am excited to bring my experience, passion, and energy to new projects, stages, and audiences. I believe that the best is yet to come, and I look forward to continuing to pursue my dreams and inspire others through the art of dance.

I have always loved the art of modeling and fashion, but I could not make it a priority until I fulfilled my obligation to serving our country. After serving 21 years in the military, my dreams and aspirations were to finally pursue my passion in the beauty and modeling industry. I began my entrepreneurial journey in 2022, where I am now the proud owner and CEO of Aurora Rose Beauty Spa, located in Fayetteville, North Carolina. I am a licensed esthetician, specializing in skin care, body sculpting, and cosmetic tattooing. I began modeling in 2023 and my career has taken off, being featured in a variety of fashion shows working with the most talented designers, models, and photographers. Also, I have been casted in a major role for a web series due to premiere in the summer of 2025. Balancing my career with being a mother and wife have certainly been challenging, but having a strong family foundation and faith in God has made all of this possible. I look forward to future opportunities!

platform, I aim to spread love, positivity, and resilience. Life hasn't always been easy, and I know what it's like to move through tragedy and come out the other side. I want to be a billboard for those who've faced difficult times, showing them that it's possible to embrace all of who you are and move forward authentically. Looking ahead, I want to continue working in print. While I enjoy the excitement of the runway, it's in front of the camera where I truly come alive. My goal is to produce content and art that takes my Babes—my followers—on a journey with me. I want to serve as a conduit for body positivity, positive change, reaching your goals, and loving yourself. Whether it's through my modeling, storytelling, or connection with my audience, I hope to inspire others to embrace their beauty, set ambitious goals, and pursue life unapologetically. Because when we own who we are and love ourselves fully, we don't just thrive—we transform. Photographers Credits (If Any): Barry Clark Photography, and John Covington

Redefining Beauty: My Journey in Fashion and Empowerment Being published in Fashion Illustrated—my very first magazine feature—was a moment I'll never forget. It wasn't just an achievement; it was a declaration that my voice, my presence, and my perspective as a plus-size Black woman deserved to be seen and celebrated. That milestone marked the beginning of my mission to redefine beauty standards and inspire others to embrace their uniqueness. For me, fashion is about so much more than clothes—it's a platform for change, a way to tell stories, and a vehicle for empowerment. I'm passionate about showing the world that beauty is not one-size-fits-all. As a plus-size woman, I've faced societal expectations and limiting beliefs about what beauty "should" look like. But I stand as living proof that beauty comes in all shapes, sizes, and shades. It's not about fitting into someone else's mold—it's about loving your body as it is and owning your space unapologetically. Through my

I have been modeling for over 9 years. I took a mental break from modeling and acting to sort out life challenges. Since coming back mid 2024 I have had so much love and support from the Queen City. Previous Magazine publications from my photographers i have achieved; fashion shows with powerful meanings that help aid the community; upcoming segment to air in 2025 on "Life of a Model"; modeling for a celebrity stylist "Nira Loves Fashion Boutique", 1st year on ballot for Queen City Model of the Year; opportunity to be model face for 2025 for "Sachhi Design & Couture"; lastly receiving an award of "Achievement for Fashion Model of the Year".

My purpose is to be an example that if you have a passion and desire to want something in life it will show. Consistency and dedication are key in success. We have alot of young upcoming next generation we have to show them the right way to work hard and be successful!!
