My name is Ta Myra, I am a fashion and runway model. I was born in Anchorage, Alaska, but raised in South Carolina at the competing in many beauty pageants throughout my childhood in early teens I decided to pursue my passion of modeling as a career. I signed with a agency, Metro faces international in 2023. Though this journey, I have been to New York model showcase and made my first runway debut in North Carolina fashion week 2023. This journey has opened up many opportunities for me to reach my goal. I have been in many photo shoots, as well as published in magazines. Aside from Modeling, I am also passionate about animal rights and I volunteer at my local animal shelters whenever I get the chance.

Through my work, I strive to bring out the beauty of diversity and use my platforms to make something positive for others to see and follow as an example..

My name is Alaya Dominguez, and I come from a beautiful Caribbean island (Dominican Republic).

I fell in love with Gymnastic from the very first moment and dream of proudly representing my country in the Olympics someday.

One of my goals is to inspire children my age by showing them that, with unwavering commitment, they can achieve and make their dreams come true through sports.

Last year, I joined the competition team, and during my first competition, I managed to secure 4th place in the jump category 6th place in the floor routine category, and 10th place in the all-around score. I kept working hard and managed to improve my position in the second competition (CopaODGYM 2023), where I secured the 8th position in the all-around score. This achievement is fueling my determination to strive even harder and confront my fears head-on. As I continue on this journey, my coach stands as a guiding force, not only shaping my skills but also fostering a resilient spirit within me. She plays a significant role in my life and has become a cherished member of my family.

I am ready to give my best in our national competition which will take place on May 2024.

You can achieve any of your dreams as long as you are willing to work hard enough.

self-care and fostering a culture of well-being. This is my dream and I am determined to achieve it!

Simultaneously, I am committed to acquiring the skills and knowledge necessary to actively contribute to the healthcare sector. The goal is to blend the glamour of modeling with the grit of healthcare, creating a narrative that underscores the importance of holistic well-being. I prioritize my education and work hard to achieve a successful career in medicine.

This dual pursuit may seem unconventional, but to me, it represents a harmonious balance between passion and purpose. I aspire to be a role model who inspires not only through the lens of high fashion but also through acts of kindness and dedication to the betterment of others' lives.

In this journey of self-discovery, I aim to redefine what it means to be a model—one who doesn't merely adorn clothes but also wears a mantle of responsibility for the welfare of humanity.

My name is Brooklynn and I am 12 years old. I've been dancing for ten years at Camarillo Academy of Performing Arts. I train in all genres of dance including ballet, tap, jazz, lyrical, contemporary, hip hop, acro, aerial and musical theatre. My favorite styles of dance are jazz and musical theatre. I started dancing competitively when I was five years old with the company team at my studio. Last summer I was accepted to the Joffrey Las Vegas Summer Intensive where I trained in jazz, hip hop and contemporary with Joffrey instructors. I also attended the Southern California Ballet Intensive where I was fortunate enough to meet Misty Copeland and train in ballet with instructors from American Ballet Theatre. My inspiration comes from my teacher Ms. Rashelle who is my biggest supporter and has been teaching me since I was five years old. My dream is perform in a musical theatre on Broadway.

My dream as inspiring Full-Figure model is to spread a confident mindset to other women to know that Full-Figure is not just a size but MINDSET!! Photos Credits: @official_aj.truth production, @jenni manni

My name is Suzanna Aldarghme. Embarking on a unique and ambitious journey, I find myself navigating the intriguing intersection of fashion and healthcare. My aspirations extend beyond the runway, reaching into the heart of the healthcare field, driven by a desire to make a tangible difference in people's lives.

The allure of modeling has always captivated me, with its artistry and ability to redefine beauty standards. Striding confidently down runways, adorned in elegant designs, represents an opportunity to not only express myself but also challenge societal norms. Yet, amidst the glamour, I harbor a deeper passion—one that resonates with empathy and a yearning to contribute to the well-being of others.

The decision to also pursue a career in healthcare stems from a profound sense of purpose. It's about more than just the superficial allure of the fashion world; it's about leveraging my influence to bring about positive change where it matters most. A model's platform can extend far beyond the catwalk, becoming a powerful voice for health and well-being.

Picture this: a runway show that not only showcases stunning couture but also serves as a platform to raise awareness about healthcare issues. From advocating for mental health awareness to promoting healthy lifestyles, the potential to make a positive impact is boundless. I envision using my presence in the fashion industry to amplify crucial messages, encouraging

I have been training jiu jitsu since I was four years old and my dream is to become a world champion. I train at my parent's gym as well as two other gyms (Resolution Jiu Jitsu and Oregon Grappling Arts). Cross training often gives me the opportunity to learn from more people and train with more kids. This year my goal is to compete in 12 tournaments. I want to travel and compete in different places. When I am not training I enjoy getting outdoors to hike or forage for mushrooms.

Hi My name is Krystiana Grace. I'm from San Antonio TX. I have been cheering for a total of 4 years. I am 8 years old. I am currently in All Star Cheer. My cheer organization is San Antonio Spirt. I absolutely love my gym and my coaches. My favorite thing has to be flying and stunting. I have been working hard to become a better tumbler as well as the best flyer I can be. Sometimes it can be scary but I will not let that stop me from continuing to grow into a better athlete. My dream would be to continue to cheer all through high school and one day continue my journey through college.

My name is Lauren N Penn DC The Twenty-Year Quest of an Herbalist to Build Wellness Through Natural Healing

As the old adage goes, a dream without a goal is just a wish. For those with a vision, the path to realization is often paved with dedication, education, and unwavering patience. In the world of herbalism, where the essence of healing lies in nature's bounty, this journey becomes an intricate dance between skill and passion.

In her twenties, our protagonist walked into a boutique apothecary and found herself captivated by its beauty and the myriad treasures it held. At that moment, she, a soap maker by trade, felt an undeniable connection to a dream that would shape the course of her life. Little did she know, it was the beginning of a thirty-year odyssey to turn that dream into a tangible reality.

The dream, born in the realms of botanical wonders, demanded more than just enthusiasm. It required education and patience, two essential ingredients for anyone embarking on the path of transforming passion into a profession. Our protagonist, fueled by an unwavering determination, delved into the vast world of healing through allopathic, natural, and alternative medicines.

The journey towards becoming an herbalist was not without its challenges. It took years of crafting her life around the pursuit of knowledge, understanding the nuances of holistic healing, and honing the skills necessary to make a genuine impact on people's well-being. Yet, every step was a testament to her commitment to the dream she embraced in her twenties.

Fast forward to the present day, and the dream has blossomed into a tangible reality. The soap maker turned herbalist has successfully integrated an apothecary into her clinic. This convergence of dreams and reality symbolizes not only personal achievement but also the manifestation of a vision dedicated to healing.

For our protagonist, the journey doesn't end here. The apothecary is not just a space filled with herbs; it's a sanctuary for those seeking natural solutions to health challenges. To continue this dream, she remains committed to lifelong learning. The quest for knowledge about herbs, spices, and the profound connection between BIO: I am Miss Malibu Nikki, I am an internationally and locally published model who enjoys inspiring others to love themselves and always remember you are beautiful and amazing! I enjoy modeling, photography, vintage clothing, and macaw parrots. I have gotten quite good at getting myself published using my tripod. My new mission in life is Hyperparathyroidism awareness, as it is an illness that I have had that went undiagnosed for 7 years, it is a tumor on the Parathyroid and creates havoc on your body, destroying bones and other organs in the body. It is an awful disease, so please get Calcium levels checked if it is high and your Vitamin D level is low, you need to have a Parathyroid Hormone test done. Sadly disease gets missed and people do not find out for years and years. The cure is surgery to remove the gland with the tumor which I will be having done if all works out very soon.

I live to honor my late Father Ralph through his beloved 1970 Malibu Chevelle Convertible that was custom ordered in 1970 and is unlike any other out there! I promised my Father that I would keep his memory alive and show his amazing Muscle Car every moment that I could. I started winning trophies for him from his car as I grieved the loss of him, until at one very special event I won a Best Female Entrant Trophy, that is the day his car became a Daddy Daughter Car. My Father used his Military Pay to purchase this beautiful car right after he had served his time and was honorably discharged. I have kept it exactly stock the way he had ordered it.

Growing up with this car, I hold vivid memories of vacations, parades and seeing fireworks in this car. I was just 5 1/2 months old when the first photo was taken of me with his car in the background. I have wanted this car since I was 12 years old and I caught different lighting that changed the color from purple to maroon. The actual color is Black Cherry which makes it so mesmerizing. I am very fortunate to have had the amazing Father that I did. I miss him every day, but knowing that he is around me and knows that I honor him every chance that I can get makes me happy. Family owned cars passed down from generation to generation are super special and hold meaning like no other car can ever have.

I dedicate this article to my late Father Ralph.

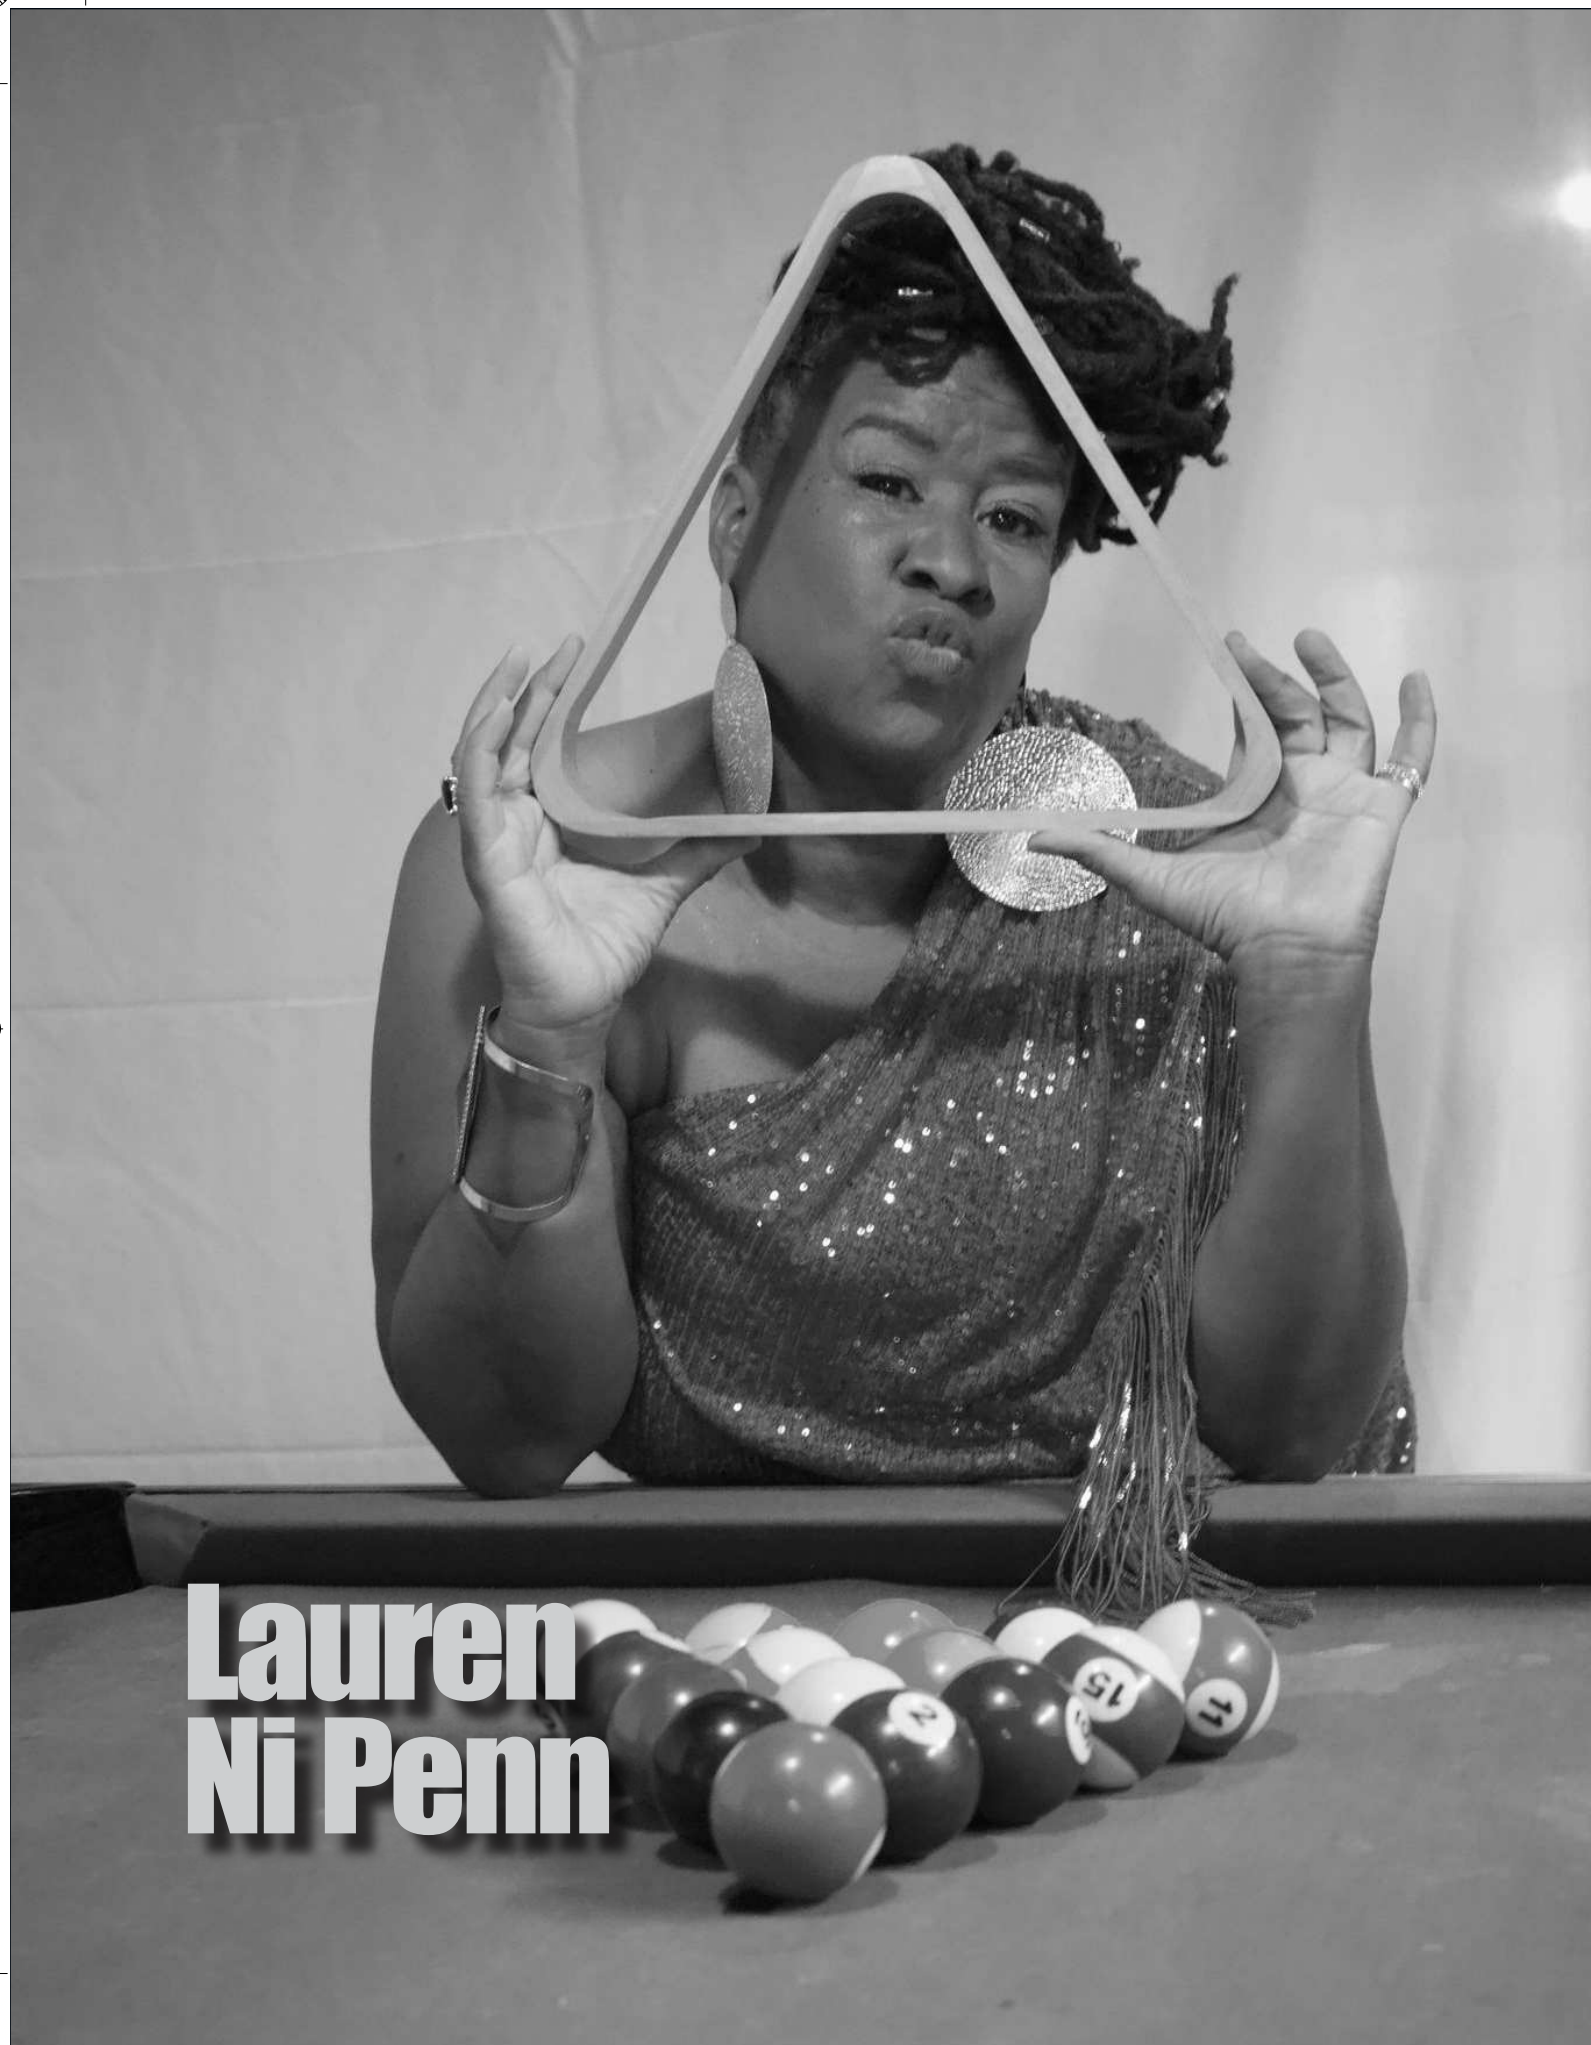

food and healing becomes an ongoing mission.

The dream that took root in her twenties has evolved into a lifelong pursuit of building wellness through natural healing. As she stands in her apothecary, surrounded by the very essence of her journey, our protagonist remains a testament to the transformative power of dreams and goals.

In the realm where dreams become reality, and goals are the guiding stars, this herbalist's story serves as an inspiring narrative for anyone on a similar path. It reminds us that the journey is just as important as the destination, and every step forward is a victory in the pursuit of a fulfilling and purposeful life.
