My name is Fiorella , and I absolutely love doing acro.

Ever since I was a little kid and I saw other kids do acrobatic moves, I got inspired by them and wanted to work on this beautiful art. Every time I was getting deeper into the acrobatics, and I tried to learn more and more tricks. I always include those tricks in my dances which always is something cool. My parents eventually signed me up for some classes to learn tumbling basics. One of my fun memories is when I was with my dance teams at Nationals and my family and I decided to go watch one of the amazing shows from "Cirque du Soleil". I was completely blown away, admiring their art and talent, so I wanted to be like them. I wanted to show the world this beautiful art. One day, I decided to try a trapeze school to be more familiar with the art and make my passion grow stronger. Every summer or time that I'm not at school I enjoy so much to hear music and follow my heart practicing everything that I know.

My name is Julian. I am eight years old from the city of London. I do gymnastic not just for the sake of doing but because it really excites me. As a kid, I am always enthusiastic about gymnastic. My passion has yielded results as well as I have won several championships in gymnastic in the city .

Kylie is an 11 year old level 4 gymnast from beautiful Southern California. Before she turned 2, Kylie's mom realized she had natural talent when she noticed Kylie climbing and hanging on bars and objects around the house. That's when Kylie's mom decided to enroll her into tumbling classes. Kylie started taking tumbling classes at 4 years old and started recreational gymnastics shortly after. When she was 9 years old, her coaches asked her parents about enrolling in a competitive team and that's when Kylie's journey started.

Her dream is to attend UCLA to study marine biology while being a part of their elite gymnastics team. Kylie is inspired to be a great athlete like Simone Biles, Katelyn Ohasi, Jordan Chiles, and Sunisa Lee. As a Laotian, Thai, Filipino, Chinese, and Caucasion child, she is a proud Asian-American who is inspired to join the Olympics and represent her diverse cultures just like Sunisa Lee did in the 2021 Olympics. Her family and coaches see the great potential Kylie has through all the training she has endured in her competitive years. Though she has not yet placed 1st in any competitions, she has placed 2nd and 3rd in many and will continue to strive to be the best of the best. She is confident she will one day reach her goals.

Kylie is grateful and blessed to be recognized amongst the many amazing athletes out there. There are many times she wanted to throw in the towel and give up after the many hours of conditioning, practicing, and preparing, yet she continues to press on. Her greatest supporters continue to inspire her to keep going because she knows she is still young and has the potential to be the greatest. With the support of her family, friends, and coaches, she will continue to strive in anything that comes her way. They say the sky's the limit and Kylie is here to break those barriers to be the best of the best.

Makenzie Steele

My name is Makenzie Steele, I am 10 years old and from New Jersey. One of my dreams is to be a successful AllStar Cheerleader. My main goal is to be able to open a gym. I want to be able to provide classes for children at any skill level in hopes of them achieving their own goals. One of my achievements has been to compete as a level 2

Allstar cheerleader in Myrtle Beach. A challenge I am working on is confidence. Although I know my skills well, I have trouble walking in to the gym without crying. I am working on relaxing my nerves and making new friends.

Natalie Albertini

My name is Natalie Albertini, I am 8 years old and from the Gold Coast, Australia. I train at 3XT Triple Talent where I take classes in Acrobatics and Dance. I began my acrobatics training at the age of 6 and I completely fell in love with tumbling and contortion from day one. I push myself each lesson to improve and learn new skills as well as training hard each week in my acrobatics private lesson to learn competition routines.

Competing on stage is my favourite thing in the world and as soon as I step out on stage, I give it my all and take in every second of it! In January this year I received my first National title of '8u Acrobatics National Champion' at Showcase and Evolution dance competition as well as the Overall Highest Scoring 8u Soloist at Get the Beat, Future Stars Tribe Dance Competition and Talent Tribe.

The hardest part of training as an acrobat is overcoming injuries and understanding at a young age how important it is to strengthen my body and how to control my contortion tricks safely due to my natural flexibility. This year I am focusing on increasing my strength to be able to achieve harder tumble passes safely on stage as we do not use mats when competing acrobatics solo. One day I dream of becoming a professional dancer, contortionist and acrobat performing in shows all around the world with my eyes set on Cirque Du Soleil. I would also love to become a dance/acrobatics teacher and one day own my own studio to teach younger kids everything that I have learnt.

Riley Cocagne

My name is Riley. I have finally found my passion in competitive cheerleading. I compete at a smaller gym called Envy Cheer. Even though we are a small gym we are very mighty! My dream is to become a competitive cheerleader on a top rated college cheer team. I will be starting my third season of competitive cheer this summer. In the short few years of this sport I have gone from level 1 skills to level 3 skills. I am also skilled in flying which is what I love to do the most. This last season I finally accomplished a big part of my cheer career by becoming a finalist in a national competition called Allstar Worlds in Orlando, Florida. My greatest challenge has been realizing some skills take more time than others to master.

My name is Sarah. I am from England. My age is 8 years and I do gymnastics. I regularly train for it and enjoy my gym sessions. I also have to manage my school along with this. It gets a little difficult but i enjoy doing.
