My biggest dream and goal is to be published front cover this year and to make it in the modelling industry as I have a massive passion for modelling. my big achievement so far is becoming confident and comfortable in my own body and I aim to help other woman achieve the same. The only challenge I have is to show other woman that they can achieve anything they want in life no matter how they look big or small everyone and anyone can achieve their goals no matter what.

I am a traveling model based out of the Midwest specializing in boudoir and runway work. I'm a hippie at heart and a hopeless romantic, a reptile mama, and tattoo enthusiast. I'm happiest on an adventure and hope to model in every corner of the world someday. I'm a huge mental health advocate and want nothing more than to inspire women in similar situations to love themselves. I hope to encourage other women to find confidence in themselves no matter where they're at in life and no matter what they may be going through.
