I always enjoy doing fine art, implied, nudes so I wanted to submit new photos this time along with the little lacy sweater I wear with some of my other outfits! I am from New Jersey and enjoy working as a waitress since recently I have gotten new customers and they have been leaving me nice tips which I appreciate! It is always a long day but I get through my days at work since I am such a people person! I also recently got more outfits so I will be also submitting those too! I also have been doing other activities around my community such as churches and other non profit organizations. It is nice to just be friendly since people will trust you and they will listen to your life and you can learn so much about their lives! There is so much out there to learn and I enjoy learning different things!

I am not just a pretty face I also have a masters degree in social work and I am currently working on getting my LCSW so I can open up my own therapeutic practice. I plan on providing couples therapy in my private practice. A modeling goal for myself this year is to attend New York fashion week and walk down a runway for a swimwear line or lingerie line.

Thank you for the opportunity to be featured in your magazine.

I, Melanie Bell, am a free spirit that loves life and all the beauty it holds.

I have many goals and I am always finding another one to achieve. Presently I am working towards modelling and someday being a published model.

My greatest achievements so far is raising my three boys. Recently I achieved winning the title of Ms. Alberta and Ms. Canada 21/22. I always enjoyed being in front of the camera at a young age. I did however take 19 years off of modelling to raise my wonderful family.

Some of my challenges I have over come so far, were brain tumour surgery and being a domestic violence survivor.

I still have daily challenges such as continuing to holding a full time job while raising my three boys as a single mother. I work everyday at becoming a role model for other single mothers and my children's friends and families. Mental health, anxiety, and PTSD is a challenge I still face today. I have learned that these challenges will not let me stop from following my dreams. ♥

Dreams for me have always changed, who I thought I was going to be, is not who I am. For me my dreams reflected my situation, my necessities, life was month to month. After years working in a restaurant, I had a great management position and started my family. My oldest needed extra support for developmental needs, and I fell in love with the therapists who came weekly to help my first born baby. I decided to go to college, and became a Speech Pathologist Assistant, a new goal achieved. Life was becoming stable and buying a home was the dream. Everything changed when a doctor visit discovered a tumor in my chest, I had Hodgkin's Lymphoma stage 4. Now I have a whole new set of goals and realized life was too short and you should make your own dreams come true. My whole life seemed to be erased, along with my eyebrows and hair. Today I choose happy everyday. I have dreamed of modeling for a magazine like, 'Playboy', since I was a teenager. I see the beauty and art of the human form itself, and I am living my dream, working as a boudoir/ nude art model, I've never felt more beautiful. I want to continue learning to love me, the new, the old, and the ever changing. I hope to represent the beauty in every woman, every size, every age.

I have always dreamed of having a portfolio so broad that it inspires other models to really reach within and find themselves.

I have always enjoyed dressing up in pinup styled clothing since I have always like to watch the older movies and listen to that type of music! I have that curvy figure and sure do like all kinds of food! As a big movie fan I also am told I look like Marilyn Monroe. She was one of my favorites! I have visited Paris and sure liked visited all the shops! I also live with a few on my girlfriends and we always go out to the movies! I do not have a car so I do a lot of walking which is healthy and I enjoy. It would be so exciting to live in Paris! It would be fun to do an actual pin up shoot with a lot of classical cars, or trucks, or an old fashioned van. It does not bother me that I do not have a boyfriend since I have close girlfriends that I am always with. It is fun working in retail since I get to help ladies with choosing their outfits and they love my witty, cheerful, bubbly personality. Living in the city of San Diego sure is fun! There is always something to go to!
